Background

Victoria is a climate and sustainability professional passionate about helping clients prepare their business for emerging risks and opportunities. As a Manager at the Deloitte Strategic Risk Advisory team, she leads projects focused on climate, carbon, and broader sustainability-related risks. Prior to Deloitte, Victoria was an ESG Ratings analyst with a leading ESG data and solutions provider.

Based in Asia for over a decade and working extensively with clients across the region, Victoria has a deep understanding of the challenges and synergies of the low-carbon transition specific to the Asian context.

Victoria is a parent of two energetic boys and spends her free time chasing after them on Lantau beaches and hiking trails.
